Policy statements

Privacy legislation and principles

RTO has adopted the Australian Privacy Principles contained in the Privacy Act 1988.

Collection of personal information

RTO collects personal information only for the purposes of its business operations.

RTO also collects personal information about students undertaking nationally recognised training and discloses this information to the National Centre for Vocational Education Research Ltd (NCVER).

RTO provides information to staff and students about why their information is being collected and how it will be used, as well as their ability to access information held about them.

Both staff and students have the right to request that their personal information be changed.

A Privacy Notice is included in the Application for Enrolment Form and Offer Letter and Student Agreement.

Staff contracts refer to privacy rights and obligations.

All personal information is kept secure and confidential at all times.

All persons have the right to make a complaint or appeal in relation to privacy matters as per RTO Complaints and Appeals Policy and Procedures.

Sensitive information

RTO also collects sensitive information. Sensitive information is defined in the Privacy Act to include information or opinion about such things as an individual's racial or ethnic origin, political opinions, membership of a political association, religious or philosophical beliefs, membership of a trade union or other professional body, criminal record or health information.

Sensitive information will only be used by RTO:

- for the primary purpose for which it was obtained
- for a secondary purpose that is directly related to the primary purpose
